(a) to (c): The National University of Educational and Planning and Administration (NUEPA) has been collecting annually the information on various educational indicators including enrolment of children through the Unified District Information System for Education (UDISE). This has been upgraded to include the student-wise information from 2016-17 to enable tracking of a student in all the schools in the country. To support this framework, an online web enabled database has been envisaged to capture data on schools, teachers and students.
The collection of child wise data for tracking of students has been discussed with the representatives of States and UTs during the Project Approval Board meetings to approve the Annual Work Plan and Budgets (AWP&B) under Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan.
